Elections

There is an old bridge which tells about the fellow who doesn't have half an hour every year to go to the polls to vote his policies, but spends the remaining 8,759 1-2 hours of the year crabbing about the way the government is run.

Unfortunately that is a lot too true. The number of people who are entitled to vote and exercise that right, is really small when we consider all the pride we take in calling ourselves a democratic government.

This applies not only to the government of our city, county, state and country, but to our lodges and commercial organizations as well.

On Monday night the Richmond Merchants' Association will hold its annual nomination and election of 7 directors. Beginning Wednesday the Chamber of Commerce will elect nine directors from 18 candidates. Every member of these two organizations should vote for those they consider best fitted for the offices that are to be filled.

It is little satisfaction or inducement for an official of an organization to work industriously for the principles of that organization if he realizes that less than twenty-five or even fifty per cent of the membership put him into office.

Richmond Merchants, who are members of the Merchants' Association, owe it to themselves and this city to go to the annual meeting of the organization Monday night and voice their opinions on their choice for directors of the association. At the same time the annual report of the association will be rendered and that is the time to suggest those things which in the mind of any member may now be conducted incorrectly and to lay out a program for the coming year.

A powerful organization whether it is a railroad, a chamber of commerce or a merchants' association, that does not have a definite program to carry out is like an automobile without a steering wheel. A great deal of power going to waste with a chance of 1000 to one that if luck stays long enough it may eventually get to its destination.

The seven directors who are to be elected for the Merchants' Association, are to name the president, vice-president and treasurer, who are to serve for the ensuing year. These men to a large extent will guide the destinies of the organization for the next twelve months and should be the choice of the entire membership.

California receipts for 1925 citrus fruits will be 122,245,523 including $28,564 for freight and refrigeration.

ATTEMPTS TO RESCUE ENTOMBED MINERS FAIL

100 MEN WORK IN EFFORT TO FREE MINERS

Flames Destroy Supports and Cause Mine Ports To Cave In

MUST SINK NEW SHAFT

Hope Is Still Held Out For Men Who May Be Brought To Surface Today

BOULDER, Colo., Dec. 4.—The twenty odd miners in the Cardinal Mine tunnel where they were entombed early this morning following a fire that caused the mine portal to cave in and destroyed the buildings about the tunnel mouth, had not been rescued at a late hour tonight.

More than 100 men were working all day and tonight in an effort to gain entrance to the mine. They were faced with a hard task. A twenty-foot shaft must be sunk into the top of the mine tunnel and eighty feet of debris that blocked the passageway when the fire burned the timbers, must be cleared away.

The shaft into the tunnel had been sunk to a depth of ten feet tonight and it was expected that at least three hours more would be required before the rescuers would be able to don gas masks and enter the workings.

A fire breaking out in the compressor room from where fresh air is driven into the mine was followed by the cave-in. The fire spread to the buildings at the mouth of the mine and burned the timbering.

Despite the fear that the entombed men may have been suffocated by the dense smoke, a ray of hope exists as the tunnel extends 3,000 feet into the mountains.

Fire Chief W. P. Cooper, Mayor W. W. Scott, M. A. Morgan and George Lohar were appointed last night by the Richmond Pyramid No. 42 of Sciois, as the committee to arrange for the Christmas entertainment program and banquet which will be given in the Richmond clubhouse on December 18.

This committee is endeavoring to make arrangements with a committee of Pittsburg Pyramid Sciois to go to the County Hospital to distribute gifts of Christmas cheer.

The lodge celebrated "Fred LaMoine night" last evening and LaMoine gave an interesting talk on Drugs.

A banquet was served at the close of the meeting with a committee in charge headed by J. H. Martin.

Toparch George Bengley presided.

TWO MONTH OLD INFANT DIES

Besides his parents, the baby leaves four brothers and sisters: Frances, 12, Clayton, 6; June 4, and Gilbert 18 months. Funeral services will be held from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel at 10 o'clock this morning and cremation will follow at Sunset View crematory.

Bessoutret, French Aviator, Establishes New World's Record

Lucien Bessoutret, famous French flyer, recently set a new world's record at Le Bourget by flying at a height of 3,000 meters (more than 9,000 feet) for a period of 1 hour, 12 minutes and 21 seconds, carrying more than 12,000 pounds of freight. This made a total weight, with his plane, of nearly 30,000 pounds.

NEW CONGRESS TO BE DRYEST SAY SPEAKERS

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The 69th Congress, which opens next week will be the "driest" in all history over a score of senators and representatives declared tonight in speaking before a banquet of members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Anti-Saloon League.

There will be no modification of the Volstead Act. Instead the screws will be tightened down to prevent even the tiniest leak in the prohibition lid, congressmen stated.

THIS RECEIPT WAS POPULAR

BERKELEY, Nov. 4.—"To get a receipt for spaghetti sauce." Under-cover agents of Berkeley disguised as college students stood outside the home of Mrs. Mary Oliva, 6456 Essex street, Oakland, and watched a steady stream of men of all ages, but mostly college students, go into and leave the place.

Upon questioning these, the officers were told invariably that a "receipt for spaghetti sauce" was wanted.

When no one was found, however, who was versed in the methods of concocting this morsel, the officers decided to investigate, so still appearing as college boys, they gained entrance into the home.

POWDER PLANT SALE TO OIL FIRM RUMORED

Reports were prevalent about the county yesterday that the General Petroleum company had purchased the Pinole plant of the Hercules Powder company. Other reports had it that the General had purchased the Hercules ranch without taking in the powder company.

Officials of the Hercules company, however, denied that a sale of any kind had been made. Due to the source of the rumors however, it is generally felt that a similar deal has been consummated, or is under serious consideration.

Appraisers have been at work in the Hercules powder plant for some time it was stated here last night.

OIL COMPANY SELECTS SITE IN OAKLAND

OAKLAND, Dec. 4.—A third oil concern, of national proportions to choose Oakland for its northern California distributing headquarters announced its lease today. It is the Julian Oil company of Los Angeles.

Construction of a storage plant at a cost of $700,000 will commence with the acceptance of plans now being prepared according to S. C. Lewis president of the Julian company.

The location chosen is on the Farr Terminal properties at the foot of 7th street. It is seven and one half acres in area.

ELMHURST TO HAVE SEWER

OAKLAND, Dec. 4.—Frederickson and Watson Construction Company were today awarded the contract for building the Elmhurst storm sewer by the city council of Oakland. This company was the lowest of five bidders at $69,000. The carrying out of the terms of the recent agreement terminates the Elmhurst sewer war that raged for several weeks.

The work must be started in five days and finished in sixty days, according to the contract. The sewer will drain the waters of lower Elmhurst for the spring rains.

Alameda Couple Married Here

Dan Cupid chalked up another mark last night when Miss Irene J. Dickson and Norman C. Benson, both of Alameda, were quietly married by Rev. Charles G. Lindemann at the parsonage, of the Wesley M. E. Church, 330 Eighth street. The bride and groom were attended by eight members of their families and are planning to take up a residence at 1626 Foley street, Alameda. Benson is connected with the Standard Oil company.

Dr. Ripley Civil War Veteran and Pioneer Passes

Dr. Lewis K. Ripley, who was one of the pioneer physicians of this city, coming here in 1902, passed away last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Earl Skiles, 211 Potrero avenue.

Ripley would have reached his 84 birthday in a few days, and was a native of Ohio. Deceased was a veteran of the Civil War and a member of the Alpha lodge of Masons. Besides the daughter in this city he is survived by two brothers, E. L. Ripley, attorney of Portland and Julius Ripley of Oskaloosa.

Funeral arrangements, which are in the hands of Wilson and Kratzer are pending.

New Judicial District May Be Formed Here

Congressman Charles F. Curry of Sacramento is endeavoring to push through the creation of a new Federal judicial district with its center at Sacramento and incorporating thirty northern California counties, including Contra Costa, in its jurisdiction. It would be formed from the present northern district of the United States court in California.

According to information coming from Washington, Curry is to introduce a bill at the coming session of Congress, providing for this change, and adding another United States judge, clerk and marshal to the present district personnel.

With the exception of Alameda, Marin, Del Norte, Sonoma, Lake, Humboldt and Mendocino, all counties north of San Francisco would come under the new district. Curry is of the opinion that these counties have easier access to San Francisco than to Sacramento. When Senator S. M. Shortridge obtained a third judge for Northern California, it was thought that the crowded conditions of the federal court at Sacramento would be eliminated, but at present the conditions are as much a problem as ever.

ASKS GUARDIANSHIP
Charles L. Jones of Richmond yesterday petitioned the superior court at Martinez to be named guardian of his two children, Vena, 13 and Dale, 9. Attorney T. H. DeLap represents the petitioner.

Gun as Plaything Proves Unpopular With Donald Scott

When the gun with which he was playing, accidentally exploded yesterday morning, Donald Scott, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Scott, 433 Bissell avenue, sustained a deep wound on the little finger of the right hand.

The boy was rushed to the Abbott Emergency hospital, where treatment was given. Dr. U. S. Abbott, the attending physician, reported that the member would not have to be amputated and the child later went back to his home. The child did not go to school yesterday morning as he was not feeling well. While he was playing about the house he picked up the pistol and it accidentally exploded in his hands, he said after the mishap.

White Collar Jobs Most Popular Say Local Builders

That the young men and boys of today are mostly after the "white collar jobs" was the consensus of opinion expressed by the members of the Richmond Builders' exchange at the exchange hall last night.

An animated discussion of the proposition of the younger generation failing to learn trades was held at the meeting. The necessity of apprentices in trades today was stressed and the opinion was expressed by some of the members that in a few more years the tradesmen will be getting as much money as highly paid professional men.

A general discussion was also held on the plan for a uniform building code for the Eastbay. It was reported that the plan has much favor behind it from the builders of the district and that the plan is progressing. E. H. Higgins, president, presided over the meeting.

LOS ANGELES PROSECUTOR ENTERS FIGHT

Keyes Says Statement of Governor Is Only a Smoke Screen For Paroles

TO APPEAR BEFORE JURY

Battle Started in Statement Made by Governor When Rescinding "Big Hutch" Parole

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—The breach between Governor Richardson and District Attorney Asa Keyes, which had its inception in the governors recent statement that bunco men were protected in Los Angeles, was widened today.

"I convict them and put them in jail, you turn them loose" was the inference of a statement fired at the governor by the county official in the reply to a denunciation of the district attorney by the state executive early in the day.

"Los Angeles has fewer bunco activities than any other city of its size Keyes declared. He classified the governor's advice to the grand jurors to investigate vice conditions past and present "as only a smoke screen of the state executive" to shield the shameful manipulation of paroles for bunco men.

Governor Richardson it is said will appear before the grand jury as a witness in the investigation without a summons being issued for him by Keyes.

The controversy grew out of the recent cancelling of the parole of "Big Hutch" Hutchings, San Quentin bunco convict by Governor Richardson.

STARVATION AHEAD

Population figures are often curious things, and over-population figures are still more curious. For example, here is a syndicated article going around, headed "Population Limits," which the alarming sub-head, "Year 2100 Will See U. S. With Maximum Number of People It Can Support."

A certain Dr. Raymond Pearl, credited with this distressing statement, is said to estimate the maximum population at 197,000,000, to be attained on the aforesaid date.

Just what mysterious methods of computation are used to postpone a population of 197,000,000 people so long as 175 years the writer does not expilain. Neither does he explain by what standards of food consumption and agricultural productivity so vast and rich a country as the United States can feed so few people.

It will be reason for astonishment if many Americans already born do not see that "maximum" figure reached and passed before they die. As for supporting capacity, with the more intensive cultivation and improved methods of production that another generation or two should bring, it would be surprising if one or two of our states alone could not feed 197,000,000 people if they had to.

Never was there a more nonsensical theory, it accepted and applied literally, than the celebrated "Malthusian doctrine." Trust modern civilization to feed itself, particularly in America, as long as it continues civilized. And if its civilization wanes, war and disease may be trusted to reduce the population to supportable numbers.

A NEW ETHNOLOGICAL CLUE

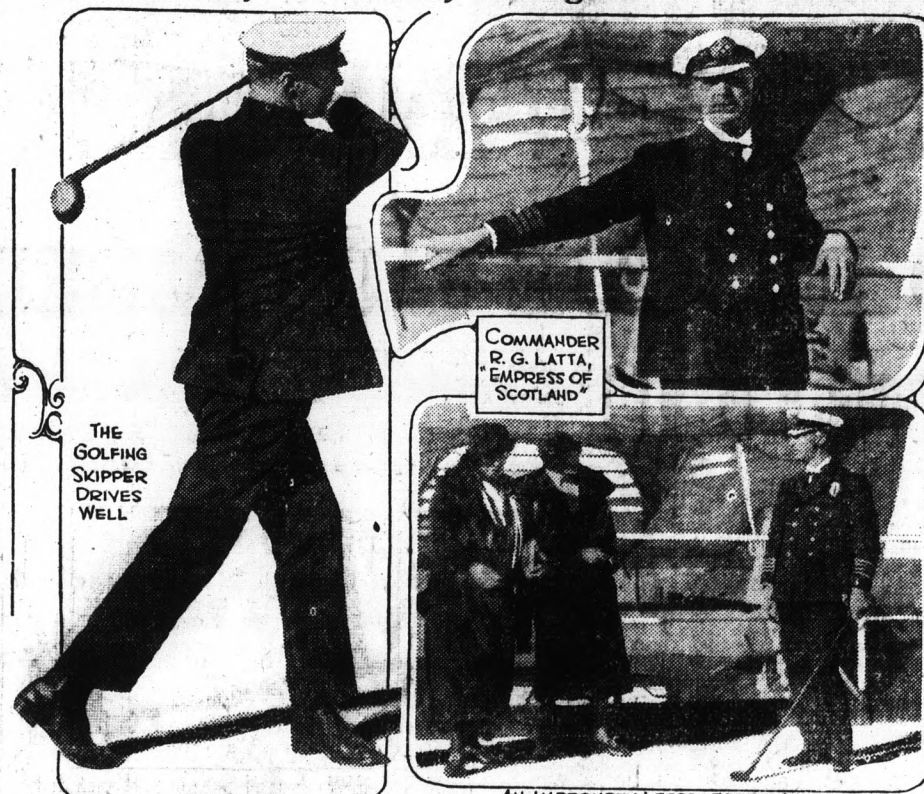

It is just possible that an ethnological and philological mystery is on the verge of solution. In Paris not long ago a Basque student attended a reception given to some Japanese dignitaries, delegates to an international conference. The Basque standing near a group of the Oriental visitors, overheard them talking to each other in their native tongue. To his intense surprise he found that, although he had never heard Japanese before and had never studied it, he was able roughly to understand enough of the Japanese words to grasp the general trend of the conversation. The words he had been able to understand, it appears, had a close resemblance to Basque words of the same meanings.

Naturally excited, he approached the Japanese and asked them in French if they had said certain things. Their answers were affirmative and then the representatives of these two widely separated races began eagerly to compare many words which apparently showed some connection between the two tongues.

If this tale is fact, more will be heard about it. Students of racial beginnings will do considerable investigating and seek proofs. Whether the Basques and the Japanese come from the same racial origin or whether they were once such near neighbors that they used closely allied languages are interesting questions which may yet be answered.

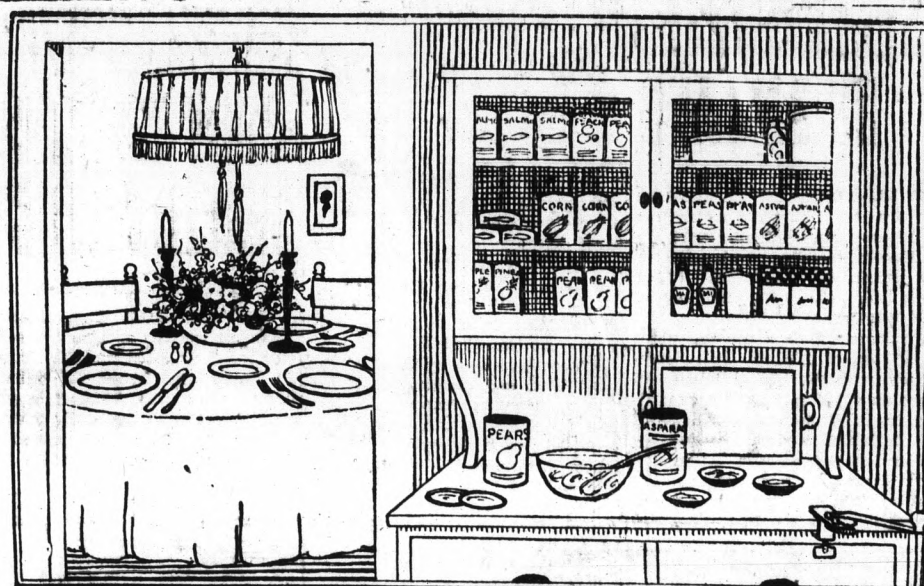

In these days when one can purchase an automobile for eight cents a day and get a liberal education in fifteen minutes a day it is really difficult to imagine what anyone should have to complain about.—New York Sun.

Gin a Body Beat a Body Golfing Round the World

AN IMPROMPTU LESSON FOR THE LADIES

Golf may have started in Scotland, but it has spread to every country in the world until today the Japanese or the Hindoo might be able to have even the nineteenth hole with the kiltie. And each course has hazards and peculiarities all its own. In Egypt, you may tee up on the top of a pyramid, above the dusty bones of some old Egyptian king, and drive your ball down the white and shining desert sands; in Hilo, if you are not careful, you will lose your ball in the mouth of the yawning crater of the volcano Kilauea. The caddies round the world are distinctive, too. In Nice, fleet footed girls embarrass you by shouldering your golf bag, girls sometimes not much bigger than the bag itself. In Japan, the caddies are school boys, garbed in the compulsory uniform of their various schools. Because of these unique features of the round the world golf courses, a Round the World Golf Club has just been organized with a "golfing skipper" as president. He is commander of the steamship "Empress of Scotland," which is taking the club on a four months trip encircling the globe, thus giving its members a chance to try out the foreign courses. Commander St. G. Latta handles a brassie with the same skill and ease as he handles the ocean liners which he has commanded as far south as Cape Horn. Whenever his boat docks, he goes ashore with his bag slung over his shoulders and makes for the nearest golf club. He has already become a familiar figure on the links of most of the courses in the large ports, and has sometimes even deigned to show the members of the fair sex how to take a wicked swing! The Round the World Golf Club was organized by Capt. William Evans, of New York, who is accompanying it on its initial world trip. He has received letters from the presidents of the foreign golf clubs, extending cordial invitations for the club to make use of the privileges they have to offer. When the Scotland docks again in New York, at the completion of her annual world cruise, and friends meet returning friends, it is safe to speculate that the conversation will center round "that pesky tenth hole at Tokyo" as much as it will about the beauty of the Tai Mahal.

The Unexpected Guest Arrives

She Enjoys Hospitality Made Possible By a Well-Stocked Pantry Shelf

"HAT a perfectly delicious luncheon!" exclaimed the unexpected guest after her hostess had served a meal of tomato soup, creamed chicken, asparagus salad, hot graham muffins, honey and coffee. "I told you not to go to any trouble, and here you have prepared a feast fit for a king!"

"It was really no trouble at all," replied the hostess. "You see the only thing I had to prepare was the graham muffins. Everything else, even to the coffee came out of a can. That is why my friends are welcome at any time. I have dishes from all parts of the world at a moment's notice because I keep my unexpected guest-shelf stocked with canned foods."

"Do you mean to tell me," interrupted the unexpected guest, "that you live on canned foods?" "Not exactly," laughed the hostess. "But practically, I have learned that all the food elements found in fresh fruits and vegetables, are retained in the same proportions in canned foods. So I no longer waste time peeling, scraping and cooking as my mother used to do. As a matter of fact, I much prefer canned foods to green foods that have been shipped from long distances and lost their freshness."

"I am sure of the canned foods," I know they have been canned while fresh, and only the best have been chosen. And I know that they are cooked at a temperature hot enough to kill any animal or vegetable parasite that might escape my own cooking. I know that the chances of chemical poisons finding their way into canned foods are most remote because nothing is ever put into canned foods to preserve them. They are processed and sterilized by steam which gains a much higher temperature than water.

"I am usually surer of the freshness of a can of peas or asparagus, for instance, than I am if I buy these vegetables in the market. I may be pretty sure, in the latter case, they have been several days in a week or two, in transit, whereas I know the canned vegetables have been packed within twelve to twenty-four hours after they are taken from vine and ground, and are canned at their very best."

"Well I never dreamed so much deliciousness could come out of cans," exclaimed the guest. "I am going to stop on my way home and stock up for unexpected guests, myself. The unexpected guest is a dreaded event in our house. What shall I get to start my shelf?"

"First of all," advised the hostess, "I see to it that I have plenty of evaporated milk. You can do everything with evaporated milk you can do with fresh milk or cream, even to whipping it. Then I stock up on tomatoes, corn, peas and both string beans and baked beans, because these are always in demand. There are at least fifty ways of using canned tomatoes, and ever so many ways of serving baked beans. One of my favorite recipes is to put half a can of tomatoes with a bunch of fresh parsley when I can get it, two good sized onions, and two or three green peppers, all cut fine, in a casserole. I add a lump of butter and considerable pepper and salt as the vegetables take up a good deal of salt. I cover the casserole and put it in a hot oven for an hour. It is one of the most delicious of vegetable dinners, with which it is not necessary to serve anything else but potatoes—canned, a light dessert and coffee. Salad may be served but is not necessary. Soup is unnecessary as the juice from the vegetables takes its place.

Other things I am keen about for my guest shelf are the "ready dishes," or more properly speaking, salads, such as canned mixed fruits with peaches, apricots, pears, pineapple and cherries, and the mixed vegetable salad with seven vegetables, all in one can. With the addition of a little orange or grapefruit juice the mixed fruits make a delicious fruit cocktail, as well as serving the purpose of fruit salad with a leaf or two of lettuce and a little salad dressing. One can get a whole meal out of a plate of mixed vegetable salad.

"Of course there are the ready made—mayonnaise and various sauces which are indispensable, and cans of tuna fish, which may be served as a salad, or creamed in croquettes—lobster, shrimp, salmon and sardines, pimientos and soups and spaghetti. Then, one must have other protein foods besides baked beans, such as chicken, a la king and boned, corn beef, dried beef and deviled ham, also desserts of various kinds, such as jams, fruits and puddings. I add to these a little caviar and a few cans of sweet potatoes. I find these potatoes delicious for candied sweets and very convenient when sweet potatoes are out of season."

"With a shelf stocked with all these kinds of foods the arrival of the unexpected guest gives me no more worry than a rainy day when I have no inclination to go to market."

Fashion likes the boyish figure and equally adores the natural color, so she designs this suspender-skirt suit in natural-color kashmir. The skirt is deeply cut out at the neck and armholes, the lower edge being plaited below the knees. The jacket is hip length, and although it fastens in double-breasted effect, achieves this end with the aid of only one button. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

SYNOPSIS
Connemara Moore has swam to shore from a yacht in Long Island Sound. Bugle, a faithful dog, accompanied her. Bugle disappeared from the beach and returned bearing a man's oilskin coat, which Connie was glad enough to put on. Then the dog reappeared bearing a package containing $50,000, which the mysterious Pooch gave her the night before, and which she induced David Lacy to take. And now Lacy himself suddenly presents himself. Connie was much in the company of rum-runners or revenue officers—she doesn't know which—last night.

CHAPTER XIV—Continued
"If I have the strength," repeated Connemara. "You are not suggesting walking, are you? Isn't there a team or a car we can use?" And the tone brought tears to Lacy's eyes.
"Not a chance. I'm sorry, but it's walk or stay here."
"All right," Connemara sighed. "I suppose I'll be warmer walking, anyway. Just turn your back until I get this sailor's kimono draped around me—and by the way, I suppose this is yours?"
Lacy blushed, although, of course, Connemara couldn't see him. He was rather nicely ingenuitous at times for so experienced a young man. Finally Connemara was as well draped as she could be. "All right," she called. "I guess this will do. I'll make you walk ahead of me, and that will give me a little bit more privacy."

"Do you think you'll be able to walk five miles in those?" he asked, pointing to her muddy little silver slippers.
"Why not? I've danced more than twice that number and never thought much about it. If I can't stand them I can take them off, or at least the heels. Come on."

And so they started on their journey. Bugle at their heels. Connemara mincing along in her little high-heeled slippers, the slicker slapping at her legs like a wet sail, the once carefully wound and jaunty turban now slipped rakishly over to the side of her head, damp and grimy. And Lacy—the always immaculate Lacy, looking like nothing an outfitter of class would use as an ad for "the well-dressed man"—strode on in front, forging ahead one moment and then, as Connemara called out to him, shortening his stride to keep one respectful pace ahead of her.

As they trudged along, Connemara told her experiences and how she and McTish went over the side of the boat, and Lacy recounted the last dive of the Bloody Nuisance and the capture of the Filomena and her company.
"I got away because they thought I was knocked up so badly there wasn't any need of watching me," he wound up.

"Do you believe that Aunt Celimena's in danger?" Connemara asked anxiously.
"Well, of course, she has been safer," he admitted, "but there has been a split in policy between our friend Pooch and the Swede, so I fancy for the present—till tonight, anyhow, they won't take any definite steps one way or the other."

Now they walked in silence. Lacy had led the way along the beach instead of taking the road, and they had come to a stretch of hard sand where they were able to synchronize their gait a little better. Connemara even drew level with Lacy and, slipping her arm through his, allowed herself to be almost towed.

"There is something I want to ask you," she said gravely. "Why did you send me that money by Bugle? You're not sure even now whether I am a crook or not, are you?" And then, as Lacy tried to stammer a reply, she continued: "Oh, you needn't protest, it doesn't matter—but feeling that way I'd like to know why you gave up the money?"
"By the way, where is it?" he evaded.

"That's my secret and Bugle's," said Connemara, and she turned to call Bugle but he had disappeared. He may have felt that with Lacy's appearance his responsibility was at an end, and had quietly melted out of the picture like the gentleman he was. Maybe he had gone back to guard the treasure, or maybe he just had a date somewhere. Whatever it was his doggy fancy had turned to, he most certainly was nowhere to be seen.
"Bugle's gone," wailed Connemara.

"He's all right," assured Lacy. "Don't worry about him, he'll turn up some time."
"I hope so. I never had a chance to really thank him for all he did for me. I don't want him to think me ungrateful."

"I'll explain it to him when I see him," said Lacy with a little laugh. That laugh was his mistake, for it brought Connemara right back to her topic. Too many men have made the mistake of laughing and appearing at ease when they thought they had a woman sidetracked from a topic, particularly when a woman develops a one-track mind.
"You haven't answered my question. Why did you give up the money?"

"Well," he faltered, "I am rather given to doing impulsive things. You can understand the feeling better than anyone, I should say. You know what the feeling is when—"
"You're wandering," she warned.
"Well, I'm puzzled about you—curious—so when Bugle came back to me after taking you the slicker, I staged a little experiment that ought to give me the answer to the puzzle of you."
"Go on," Connemara commanded.
"Well, you see"—Lacy was speaking very slowly and accusingly now—"I half believe you're that girl I met at Auteuil only—well, it's all very confusing and improbable—all the Pooch and Sweetie and Doc business and their being so chummy with you, and especially handing over all that money to you. Oh, I feel like a rotter even saying this to you," he interrupted himself to exclaim in very real distress.
"So, thinking I am a crook, you sent the fifty thousand back to me. It was nice and generous of you—but why?"
"I told you I was impulsive."
"I should say so—fifty thousand dollars!"
"And yet there was a thought back of it all," he went on. "If you really were the girl of Auteuil, I was safe, wasn't I? And if you were mixed up with that gang against your will, there was a nice tidy little sum of money that you probably had as much right to as any of the rest of the gang. Anyway, it gave you a chance to break away, go somewhere and—"

"Start all over again," Connemara finished for him. "Yes, for an impulsive act, it was very well thought out. Well, let's see how it works."

Sometimes the beach became very rocky, and then Lacy would turn to help her. At times she accepted his assistance and at others would draw herself up haughtily and wait for him to walk on. By the time they had reached their journey's end she would gladly have allowed him to carry her.
Lacy's house was one of those old-fashioned houses which have been remodelled, and about which one is supposed to keep saying "How quaint!" Connemara eventually ran out of "How quaint." Yet it really was a picture, set in a little grove of pines which must have helped to make it nice and damp at times, but provided a charming background. However, pictures meant nothing to Connemara at this time, and Lacy was sensible enough to realize the fact.
"The first thing you'll want is a change of clothes and then a piping hot breakfast, and there, waiting for us, is the person who can furnish them both."

High School Annual Makes Appearance

The annual for the 1925 graduates of Richmond Union High school and the annual for the students who are going into the high school from Roosevelt school were published yesterday. Both annuals are a credit to the students.

The senior annual carries summaries of the football season, coming athletic events, cuts of the various clubs and organizations of the school and stories about every school activity this year. Much of the credit for the publication is given to Louis Albert, editor. Olive Goodwin, assistant editor and Harry Sanders, assistant editor.

The Blue and White, the High-Nine annual, is dedicated to Miss Nora Ashfield, assistant superintendent of schools. It contains pictures of the teams and the various classes and clubs. The editor is Robert Van Fleet and the assistant editor is Mildred Long.

Many New Homes Started Here

Applications for new water services during the month of November show that 57 new buildings were started in Richmond during that time, as compared with 29 during the same month a year ago, according to figures on file in the offices of the East Bay Water company here. New residents coming to Richmond during the month were from Pennsylvania, Sacramento, Napa, San Bernardino and Oleum.

The gain in building is credited to the rapid development of the home districts of the city. The activity is in line with other Eastbay cities. A total of 807 new buildings are being erected and new people arrived from 20 states and from 43 California cities in this district.

Western Thriller Stars Buck Jones At The Richmond

Buck Jones' latest starring picture, "Durand of the Bad Lands," which opened last night at the Richmond theatre, is undoubtedly the best western thriller that this hard-riding cowboy has made. Directed by Lynn Reynolds this production fairly breathes the spirit of the West and is full of action, pathos and humor, from the first title to the fadeout.

The story, by Maibelle Heikes Justice, involves an alleged outlaw and the daughter of a desert prince. Into this pretty romance is injected the menace of an unscrupulous sheriff, a gold robbery and other intrigue. While some of the incidents savor of other western productions and originality that holds the spectators' attention throughout.

Marian Nixon, sweet and demure as ever, gives a splendid interpretation of the daughter of the desert. Malcolm Waite, as the sheriff, is satisfactory. Others in the cast are Fred De Silva, Luke Cosgrave, George Lessley, Buck Black, Seesel Ann Johnson, James Corrigan and Carol Lambard.

Other features on the same program include "Shoes" one of O. Henry's most interesting comedy stories; "Felix Trifles With Time" a Felix the Cat comic.

"Kentucky Pride" Pleasing Many at The California

If you fail to see "Kentucky Pride" the William Fox attraction which opened yesterday at the California theatre, you are going to miss two of the most thrilling horse-race ever thrown on the screen, and one of the best moving picture bets of the season, besides.

MISS MARY HAWLEY, LEADING LADY OF THE "KENTUCKY PRIDE" AT THE CALIFORNIA THEATRE.

Verily, "Kentucky Pride" is a great race-horse picture. It is the life story of a splendidly bred filly, as told by herself, and the two races are simply the high points in her autobiography. It is a romantic story tinged with tragedy, and any one who can see it without sympathizing with the woes of the noblest animals, tied by their sorry destiny to the silly creatures called humans, must have a dried-out sort of heart indeed. Yet it abounds in comedy situations and yields many a wholesome laugh.

Some of the most noted thoroughbreds in the world, including the peerless "Man o' War" make their screen debut in "Kentucky Pride." In some respects they constitute the costliest, most aristocratic and fastest cast ever assembled.

Other features on the same program include "The Peacemakers," a Helen and Warren comedy; "Varieties," "International News," "Junior Californians" (evening only) and Indoor Radio novelties with Larry Canelo at the organ. Saturday matinee special "Kiddies" program.

Local People Await Decision Of R. R. Body

While the state railroad commission is struggling with over 3000 motor transportation applications thrown upon its hands by the decision of the supreme court, stockholders of the Richmond-San Francisco ferry company are growing impatient over the delay of the commission in handing down a decision in M. Emanuel's appeal for a new hearing of the commission's order dissolving the company.

H. C. Mathewson, secretary of the commission, said yesterday that the commission was unable to render a decision due to the press of other business. He said that the ferry case was a complicated one and demanded deep consideration.

Headed by O. R. Ludewig, the stockholders of the company, instituted the proceedings to have the company dissolved and stock money refunded. More than $50,000 has been paid for stock and is now being held. On the other hand Emanuel has presented bills for office rental and other expenses, which he desires paid before refunding the stock money.

Masons Organize New Service Club

The High Twelve club was partially organized by twenty-eight members of the Masonic lodges Thursday evening, when they convened in the Richmond clubhouse. The new organization will be in the nature of a service club. All members of Masonic orders are eligible.

Home Patterson is in charge of the arrangements of the next meeting, which will be held next Thursday. A place for the meeting has not yet been decided upon.

PRICE ONE "GRADE"

The big city studios' low priced "SPECIAL" usually turns out to be "OUR LOWEST GRADE" when you go to get it.

Then they use high powered SALESMANSHIP to sell you something "BETTER." Our policy is to make only the BEST GRADE that we can possibly make and make our prices so low the year 'round that we CAN'T cut them.

Cost of Living Held Cause of Crime in Address

The cost of living in this country at the present time is the cause for many of the crimes that are committed, according to the address given yesterday at the meeting of the Rotary club by Dr. E. O. Henrich, scientific criminologist that is known throughout the country.

Dr. Henrich said that the wages a young man can earn will not permit him to marry and settle down until ten years after that natural instinct comes to him. He therefore obtains money to entertain his girl, in any manner that he can, such as stealing an automobile to give her a ride or obtaining funds unlawfully to provide entertainment for her.

The girls, said the scientist, are really the ones at fault, and the male is the victim. Many personal experiences were told where science had traced the criminal to the interested members who voted this one of the most deeply interesting and instructive meeting for many months.

Community singing was led by Earl Hill and music was furnished by the Barry-Bibbins orchestra. Deputy District Attorney Delap presided in the chair for the day.

ROWDY STARS IN SHOOTING

Richmond 130 Pound Aggregation is Easy Victor Over Team from Sonoma

Coach Ivan Hill's cagers took the strong Santa Rosa Unlimited team into camp last night by a score of 30-13. Although the locals were heavily outweighed they were just a trifle faster. The game was close for the first half, then Ernie Barbieri got tired of running around and shot a basket. From then the score grew by leaps and bounds, due mostly to the basket shooting of Barbieri and Dyer.

Although Dyer had sprained his ankle two days ago he was in the lineup and bagged four buckets. Barbieri annexed three and Swede Johnson two.

Richmond—Dyer 4, and Villalobos 1, forwards; Johnson 2, center; Captain Barbieri 3, and Bill Millicovich 0, guards; Subs. Clark, Gualdoni and H. Johnson.

Santa Rosa—Abbott 5, and Cordey 2, forwards; McCanze, center; Feliz and Tockson, guards.

THIRTIETH WINNERS

Playing a fast and furious game the Richmond high school 130's easily defeated the strong Santa Rosa quintet to the tune of 30 to 14. The game was rather lopsided, played at the start and the locals seemed to be without their basket-eye. At the end of the first half the Santa Rosans were leading by seven points. In the third period the Midgits opened up an denuded the Saints under. The Midgits had no eye for shooting fouls, but a habit of sinking the long ones.

Tittmore, the flashing forward added up sixteen points, while Bowman and Hosking each added up seven points. Coach Harry Sanders is pleased over the showing of his lightweights and expects them to add up the some score against Martinez next Wednesday.

Richmond—Bowman and Schroeder, forwards; Tittmore, center; Hosking and Rloruan, (captain), guards; Subs. De Baere, Swenson, Frankie, Abbey and Zeim.

Santa Rosa—Young and Richardson, forwards; McDonnell, center; Stein and McCleod, guards; Sub: Hakman, Saunders, Dibble, Lamb and Groff.

Mild-Fed Mooseheart High School Team, Undeclared Durgin Season, Claims National Championship

"Red" Grange, the great Illinois football star, who left college to become a professional on the gridiron, set the vogue for drinking milk at all times, even through a game on the side-lines. The husky youngsters composing the Mooseheart H.L. high school eleven, found much virtue in "Red's" milk drinking, so much in fact that they went through the season without a defeat. Because of this record, the team claims the national high school championship. In eight years the Mooseheart teams have done splendid work, having won 59 out of 55 games, lost 4 and tied 1.

MAY BAN CLUBS

The meeting of the Pacific coast conference at Seattle on December 11, is expected to give Stanford and California a crack at the Olympic club. A measure is to be introduced banning clubs from playing colleges in conference football. The crack is directed at the San Francisco club, which beat both bay universities, and are therefore undesirable.

ALUMNI IS MENACE

Alumni are greater menaces to college football than professionalists. This is the opinion of the majority of coaches throughout the country. The Alumni glorify a star and gains a team that is losing to the detriment of clean, hard fighting amateur games. It is believed that if the alumni kept its hands off the sport would be greater.

HORRELL TO PLAY

Babe Horrell, All-American center and captain of the 1924 Bear varsity, has signified his desire to play in the East-West classic on December 26, Jack Patrick, of the Olympic club, and former star of Stanford, will be another luminary in the Western lineup. A covey of men are being gathered all over the coast, who will battle for the Pacific Coast.

STILL TIED FOR LEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—At the end of the 107th hour the team of McNamara-Georgetti and Dehast-Gooens, were stilled tied for the lead in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square garden. More than half the riders still show scars of the numerous spills that marked the opening of the race. The leading teams have covered over 1730 miles.
